

Father Proulx Tours Alaska

The Bishops of the United States have established the Apostolate of the Sea for the spiritual care of those who work on the sea (for example: merchant marines, crews on leisure ships). The Apostolate of the Sea certifies the credentials of Catholic Chaplains. I was lucky enough to accompany one of those Chaplains, Father Mark Hueberger, last month to Alaska. I had the privilege of celebrating or concelebrating daily Mass for the passengers of the Celebrity Ship, Integrity. Here are some of my pictures.

On ship's deck with snow-covered mountains in background of inland passage of Alaska.

On deck approaching the Hubbard Glacier

Atop Mt. Roberts overlooking town of Juneau

Totem Pole at Ketchikan

Another great Alaskan scene (please note Nativity close to my heart)

Seattle

